United Nations Day Observances Oct. 25

Greenbelt units of the League of Women Voters and the National Council of Jewish Women, cooperating with the Committee for United Nations Day in Prince Georges County (October 24 being the anniversary of the UN charter ratification), are distributing sheets for signature by citizens of the Fifth Congressional District, urging representatives "to take every opportunity to express and demonstrate . . . public support for the United Nations." The sheets also contain a statement by President Eisenhower, as follows: "The need for the United Nations is greater than ever before and success depends on the extent to which its members give it support."

Prince Georges County organizations working on this committee, headed by Mrs. S. S. Levine are the Prince Georges County League of Women Voters, which initiated it; the Association of American University Women; the Council of Church Women; the National Council of Jewish Women of University Park and Greenbelt; the Prince Georges County Council of Democratic Women; the International Club of the University of Maryland, and the Civic Federation. The United States Committee for UN Day, of which Mr. Watson is president and Mr. Bailey executive director, administers our nation's observance of this day. The Capitol Area Association for UN day is organizing efforts for local programs. United Nations Day is celebrated the world over.

Signature sheets gathered by the Inter-organization Committee for United Nations Day in Prince Georges County will be made into a scroll presented to Governor Theodore McKeldin at the county's Salute To The United Nations ceremony Sunday, October 25, at the University of Maryland. This ceremony and speech by Governor McKeldin will highlight a program, to start three in the afternoon, of dancing by the university's foreign students, a UN puppet show, and singing by Fague Springmann and members of the

This was the first accident to occur since the intersection was recently completed, as part of the construction work on the new Baltimore-Washington Expressway.

Thomas D. O'Connor, 7-L Southway, was the driver of one of the cars. The other driver was Anthony J. Pisano who was accompanied by his wife and 14-month old daughter. All were injured and taken to the hospital but later released.

Baptists Open Chapel At Theatre Sunday

The Greenbelt Baptist Chapel, the sixth organized religious group to join the community, will begin regular services in the Greenbelt theater Sunday morning, October 18, at 11 a.m.

Dr. Crowder

Services will be preceded by Sunday School convening at 9:45 a.m. Acting pastor of the new chapel is Dr. William J. Crowder, director of the Department of Missions and Evangelism, District of Columbia Baptist Convention. A group of Baptist residents had previously begun services this summer but postponed them until the fall when Dr. Crowder agreed to organize the chapel and act as its pastor.

The pastor has just completed the organization of the University of Maryland Baptist Chapel, where he served as its acting pastor for a year and a half. Previously he had organized the Clifton Park and Wheaton Baptist Churches.

The Greenbelt Chapel is under the sponsorship of the First Baptist Church of Hyattsville. Reverend Henry R. Osgood, pastor of that church, will be present with a number of his church officials this Sunday to open the Sunday School. A nursery will be maintained for young children during both the Sunday School and worship service. Training fellowship and evening worship services will be announced later.

Interesting and instructive exhibits are being prepared by school children, book companies, and business machine companies featuring ditto and mimeograph machines, etc.

Zubkoff Becomes Cooperator Editor

Harry Zubkoff, 17-H Ridge, was appointed editor of the Cooperator last Tuesday night by the board of directors of the Greenbelt Cooperative Publishing Association. Zubkoff previously served for two years as editor of the Cooperator. He is presently on the board of Greenbelt Consumer Services.

He was an unsuccessful candidate for the city council in the September election.

Two staff members vied for the position of editor, vacated by Bernie Krug who resigned October 8. A membership meeting preceded the election and an expression of the membership was requested concerning the choice. The expression was not considered binding to the board; however, both choices were the same.

Zubkoff moved to Greenbelt in 1949. He is employed as a writer with the Defense Department. Married, with two children, Zubkoff hails from Buffalo, New York.

No. 10

By Dorothy McGee, phone 8083

Mrs. Earl Doss, 22-C Hillside had as house guests last week for several days, her mother and sister, Mrs. E. V. Shanoltzer of Romney, West Va. and Mrs. John Gorrell of Minneapolis.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dunbar, Sr., long-time former Greenbelters, now of Bowie, will be interested to learn that the Dunbars were presented with a granddaughter on October 13 by their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dunbar, who live in the southern part of Maryland.

INFORMATION PLEASE

Congratulations with your "How Well Do You Know Greenbelt?" column. There are many privileges and restrictions that the people of Greenbelt do not know and take advantage of, especially the newcomers who do not understand close neighbor harmony and cooperative living.

One in particular is the city ordinance No. 190. What happened to it? Why isn't it enforced? This is in regards to the collection and disposal of all waste materials.

Few new residents realize that the back door is also the front door. Any visiting guests when arriving must drive up to the rear and enter by the rear door. The back garden section should be as attractive as the front and is usually shared by one or more neighbors. It is unsightly and very unpleasant to face garbage cans and trash as one enters. Our new neighbors are using the closets intended for trash as storage closets and the garbage and trash sits outside along the driveway or back door. They do not bag the garbage as instructed in code No. 190 and on hot sunny days the stench is terrific. This also constitutes a very disagreeable task for the collectors who are also human.

It contributes to the unhealthy conditions of flies traveling from garbage pail to the dining table. Flies are a prime factor in carrying disease and who knows POLIO. Greenbelt's modern code in living should not tolerate such conditions.

I suggest -

1 - Cards with instructions regarding code No. 190 (originally found on the inside of all trash room closets) be replaced or mailed to each tenant.

2 - From time to time all codes and regulations be published in The Cooperator, in order that all may again become familiar with the rules and regulations in cooperative living.

LET'S KEEP GREENBELT A HEALTHY, HAPPY, AND ATTRACTIVE PLACE TO RAISE OUR FAMILIES.

MRS. RESIDENT.

Our deepest sympathy goes out to little Sandy Gold and her big sister, Pearl on the loss of their mother, Mrs. Bessie Gold.

Mrs. William Tredwell, 5-A Crescent Road is enjoying the company of her mother, Mrs. B. Coperman of Philadelphia, who will be staying here for several weeks.

We're glad to join in the happiness of Mrs. A. Kornetsky's third graders who welcomed her back to the North End School after a week's illness.

Bessie Gold

This week tragedy struck a Greenbelt home. Mrs. Bessie Gold died Monday morning of a cerebral hemorrhage. The attack came Sunday without warning, and in twenty-four hours Bessie passed away.

Those of us who knew Bessie Gold will always remember her. We remember the smile, hovering on her lips, ever ready to spill over into laughter. We remember her eyes, crinkled at the corners, so that even in repose she seemed to be smiling at the world. We remember her good-natured bantering at the everyday vexations and the normal difficulties which perplex and harass us all, so aggravating in life, so unimportant in the face of death. We remember, too, her thoughtfulness, her moments of doubt and sometimes of bafflement, even as we ourselves have often experienced. But most of all we remember Bess as a very human woman, warm, generous, quick to make friends, easy to like.

Although a young woman, Bess had more than her rightful share of hard times and hard work. Estranged from her husband and faced with the problem of raising her two children, she refused to be impressed or discouraged. Instead, she faced the future squarely and unflinchingly. The character and popularity of her two children, Pearl, 17, and Sandra, 9, are ample testimony to a mother's job well done. They are indeed a tribute to the care and devotion with which she raised them.

Yes, Bessie Gold will be remembered as a cheerful woman, a courageous woman, a good woman, who gave to life more than she received, but did so with no complaint. She will be missed, sorely missed, but never forgotten.

A FRIEND.

Memorial Service For Bessie Gold

Memorial services for Mrs. Bessie Gold will be held Sunday night at 7:30 in the social room of the Center school. Mrs. Gold died suddenly Monday morning at Prince Georges hospital of a cerebral hemorrhage. She leaves two daughters, Pearl, 17, and Sandra, 9.

A resident in Greenbelt since 1941, Mrs. Gold was active in PTA, the Jewish Community Center and B'nai B'rith. She worked for the U. S. Navy Hydrographic office.

A large crowd of neighbors and friends gathered at Danzansky funeral home in Washington last Monday night. Burial took place in New York yesterday. Pearl Gold will reside at the home of Mrs. Frances Sanders, 17-J Ridge. Sandy will move to New York to live with an uncle.

The Youngdahls and the Nelsons have just returned from a tour of the Near East and Europe, and will speak on their observations and the United Nations in general.

Furniture Surfaces

How can you keep a good finish on furniture surfaces?

Only a minimum of care is needed to maintain a good finish, according to home furnishings specialist, Florence Mason, University of Maryland Extension Service. If the surface has been waxed, no furniture polish is needed. In fact, polishes dissolve the wax.

Instead, simply dust with a clean soft cloth. Fold under the soiled sections as you dust, and renew wax as needed. Wipe off sticky soil with a damp cloth; allow the wax to dry, then polish. If soil has penetrated the wax, re-wax the area after removing soil.

When fine scratches appear, Miss Mason advises using 3/0 steel wool and turpentine or a cleaning solvent. Rub the surface with the grain until the scratches disappear, and re-wax. This treatment is especially good for surfaces that have been neglected or for furniture that has accumulated soil from storage.

If you're troubled with white spots on furniture, rub the spots with a soft cloth moistened with turpentine or spirits of camphor. If the color isn't restored, rub with fine steel wool or sandpaper and repeat the turpentine or camphor treatment; re-wax. Then if the color doesn't return, refinishing is probably needed.

Surface checking can be removed with a light sanding; however, deeper checking requires refinishing. A few deep scratches can be sanded, colored with oil colors or colored wax to match the finish, and then re-waxed.

Finally, use trivets or bases under flower arrangements to prevent collection of moisture and mildew. Use pads, trivets and coasters to protect table tops from heat and moisture.

Appetizing Apples

Apples are everyone's favorite. Serve them anytime—from apple juice at breakfast to a raw apple before bedtime; for an appetizer or dessert.

They're especially right for the calorie-watcher, too. According to nutritionist Janet Coblentz, University of Maryland Extension Service, one medium-sized apple contains only 80 calories. So munch on an apple whenever you are hungry.

Apples are good nutrition-wise, too says Miss Coblentz. When eaten raw they provide some vitamin C, though not enough to meet the daily requirement. Crisp firm apples help keep teeth and gums in good condition. And they contain pectin which absorbs intestinal poisons and aids normal activity.

Before buying apples in large quantity, it's wise to buy a few at first to try and to see whether they have the flavor and texture you want.

Maryland's best all-purpose apples are Golden Delicious, Jonathan and Stayman. Golden Delicious are especially good for salads since they won't turn dark on standing. Jonathan and Stayman make excellent frying apples. And they are all excellent, whether eaten out of the hand, baked, used in a pie or as a sauce.

As a family surprise try this recipe:

Apple Pudding (Serves 6 or 8)

1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 1/2 cup sugar
2 cups diced apples
1/2 cup chopped walnuts
1 cup of whipped cream or ice cream

Mix and sift dry ingredients. Beat eggs slightly. Add vanilla and sugar to the eggs and mix. Pare and dice apples; stir apples and chopped nuts into custard mixture. Add dry ingredients, beating only until flour is dampened. Pour batter into a greased 8x8x2 inch pan and bake at 350 degrees 35 to 40 minutes. Cut and serve warm, with whipped cream or ice cream.

DIRTY CITY - A POOR INVESTMENT

Wherever you go in town you see litter. Mostly it is the work of the small fry. But it is a problem which the grownups will have to face. Those of you who attended the last GVHC membership meeting heard the President voice his concern with this problem. I suspect that it has hurt GVHC in its sales program.

In the residential areas of town, litter is the order of the day. Wrappers from ice cream and candy, the remains of fruit, and bits of miscellaneous paper are strewn about. In public areas such as the playgrounds and the shopping center the litter is more concentrated. It is our kids who do this—and it is up to each of us to teach them better. I wonder if the schools can help us in this matter.

The problem is surely important for the new City Council to consider. It may be that the public places are littered in spite of frequent cleanups. If the flow of litter is too heavy, it can be too costly to keep the place neat. A key question for the City Council to consider is whether there are scheduled cleanups; how frequently they are scheduled; and what inspections are made after such cleanups.

The first step is discussion. Before the problem of litter and dumping can be dealt with, all of us will have to talk the problem over. Out of discussion will come more individual cooperation, vigorous action by the city, help from the schools, and—perhaps most important of all—some constructive thoughts on the problem.

An example of constructive thinking is the suggestion of one reader that trash-dump stations be constructed in a few suitable spots in Greenbelt. She argues that, instead of giving the Greenbelters the choice of messing up his own yard or a prominent spot on the road with trash, he should be given a place where he can get the stuff out of sight.

This should cut down on the collection job of the city as well as cut down on the temptation to violate the law.

Fishing Lines

By Lee

There's good news for all fishermen tonight: The state has decided to restock Greenbelt Lake with some 200 pickerel and about 250 bass of legal size about the middle of this month to insure excellent fishing for the remainder of this season. This is in addition to the large winter stocking which will take place some time in January. It sure looks like good fishing right at home for the remainder of this month and November. So, loosen up your gear and get out after some of these nice fish.

Meeting November 12

During the remainder of this year the Greenbelt Izaak Walton League is campaigning for additional members for the chapter. We have an excellent chapter meeting once a month, the second Thursday of each month unless otherwise advised, in the Firemen's hall beneath the police station. Meeting time, usually 8:30 p.m. The November 12 meeting will be highlighted by a motion picture of the sport fishing in South American countries. All you fishing enthusiasts, come on down and enjoy the picture and incidentally inspect the local Walton chapter and come on in with us. Anyone interested in wild life conservation is welcome. We do have some fun on our get-togethers.

Drop Inn Data

By Carole Martin

Something new has been added! Starting October 19, the Drop Inn will open its doors on Monday night instead of Tuesday. Loyal readers should spread the word around so we won't have any dejected individuals sitting on the steps some Tuesday evening.

The Drop Inn applications have arrived. Both "youngsters" and "oldsters" can leisurely stroll over to the office and pick them up. With more gusto, perhaps, we want them signed, as usual, by the parents and returned as soon as possible. Tucked carefully inside should be a crisp new two dollar bill, a small token of your esteem, for which we shall exchange a membership card.

Now that school has reopened and we are all in closer contact with each other, we should strive to get new members. The more new faces we see around, the more fun it will be and the more successful the Drop Inn will become. Don't be afraid to drag along your little sister. The only time she will bother you is when she needs to replenish her nickel supply for the coke machine.

Once you are a member you are expected to abide by the Drop Inn rules. They are conveniently posted on the bulletin board. (You can't miss them.) New members should read them carefully and old members should check for revisions. Remember . . . ignorance of the law is no excuse.

What Happens In Greenbelt Every Thursday

The Cooperator brings the heartwarming story of the trials and tribulations of a weekly newspaper to the Greenbelt theater on November 11, Armistice Day. The never-ending problem of publishing a newspaper every Thursday in the year makes a fascinating story and a thrilling motion picture. Save the date - - Armistice Day. Matinee and Evening Shows Universal-International's film adaptation of Jane McIlvaine's best-selling book, "It Happens Every Thursday", is now brought to the screen with Loretta Young and John Forsythe in the starring rolls.

"It Happens Every Thursday" delightfully chronicles the happiness and the heartbreak of a young married couple who take over a defunct country weekly and build it into a successful journal.

The new film represents the first time that the small-town weekly newspaper has ever been made the subject of a feature-length film. And by that token "It Happens Every Thursday" is a far cry from the standard Hollywood film dealing with the newspaper business.

Loretta Young plays the movie counterpart of the book's author and John Forsythe, New York stage and television star, plays the role of Miss Young's husband.

Behind this refreshing insight of life in the Fourth Estate was five years of real-life experience shared by Jane and Bob McIlvaine, publishers of a small Pennsylvania weekly. It was May 1, 1946, when Navy veteran Robinson McIlvaine rejected the idea of resuming his career as a Washington, D. C., public relations man, and invested his life savings in the Downingtown, Pennsylvania Archive.

Five years later the experiences of trying to breathe new life into the almost defunct weekly was related graphically and with sparkling humor in Jane's book, "It Happens Every Thursday."

During the filming of "It Happens Every Thursday," the book's author, her husband and two children, visited the film set and saw their movie counterparts at work bringing their own real-life experiences to the screen.

Frank McHugh, Edgar Buchanan, Palmer Lee, Gladys George and Jane Darwell head the large supporting cast of "It Happens Every Thursday."

Joseph Pevney directed and Anton Leader produced.
